THE EASTER SELLING!

At the Meyer Store has really created a sensation throughout the city. Last Easter Richmonders thought this store had reached its limit, but the stocks this Easter are one-third greater in assortments, and the bargain selling so early in the season is unprecedented. Take the Ribbon selling, for instance.

Exquisite Easter Millinery.

You would hardly think, after looking through the immense stock displayed here, that four days' selling would completely exhaust it but for the fresh additions daily. That is, the stock is changed every four days. You can hardly buy a hat here that is a week old. Could anything show better the advantage of buying at the centre?

Our collection to-day is finer even than last week-the greatest millipery week in our history. The best styles are now fully developed and you will find them here in perfection. Through our New York bureau, the new styles come here first; at other stores after their millipers have paid us a visit. (They know where to come for the good things, and they are welcome.) Gray is the favorite color in hats, as well as dresses. Gray braids gray chiffon, gray velvets, gray plomes and trimmings-these are found in exquisitely delicate shades, sometimes combined with white, maize, or other colorings equally delicate and beautiful. You can get an excellent idea of the extent of our stock by comparing the collection in grays here with that in other stores.

And it's worth remembering that you pay one-third less here than in exclusive stores. Try to come to-day,
